Spaulding Defeated People's

urday Evening

Up a Score Through Nervousness

After 40 minutes of the fastest playing seen in Barre this year, the Spaulding high school basketball team sent the People's academy quintet of Morrisville down to defeat Saturday evening at the Spaulding high gymnasium by a score of 31 to 23. As a game, it was far superior to the contest between Spaulding and Montpelier seminary a week ago, when the local team won by a score of 35 to 24.
While there is not much difference between the scores of the two games, Spaulding looked 100 per cent better on the floor Saturday night than at the preceding game, as they opened up and did some remarkable passing and had People's baffled a good share of the time.

There was hardly a single instance Saturday night when the team became bunched in a way that they could not pass effectively and work the ball up the hall; but their one weakness was inability to shoot baskets. Time and time again good passing carried the ball to People's end of the hall, but as a rule the shot would go wild. Nervousness seemed to play a big part in the local boys' shooting, as they were continually watching their guard to see if the shot was free and slipped up on many chances that were comparatively easy. The team work of the Morrisville five was snappy at times, but they could not work the passing game in good shape, because a Spaulding man would almost always break up their team work.

There was no individual on the Barre team who was much superior to his teammates; but the new combination of Goals and Densmore at the guard positions seems to be a great improvement, as they are both good defensive players and make a pretty pair in advancing the ball to their basket on offensive play, and Cerasoli at forward, in place of Goals, is fast on his feet and good at interference.
During the first period he seemed rather nervous and fumbled the ball on several occasions, but in the last half he settled down and played a classy passing game.

Mann was again the high scorer for Spaulding, dropping six through the loop from the floor and one foul, while every man on the team was credited with two baskets or more.

For People's, Carroll Silloway, the center, was by far the individual star of the evening and looks to be one of the fastest centers in the league, as he shot five baskets from the floor and made seven fouls good, out of eight tries. His points for the evening numbered 17, or about three-fourths of the team's total. During the last few minutes of play he was shifted to left forward in order to give the team a better chance for catching up, and Montgomery was put in center in his place; but the change came too late to be of any benefit to the team.

The game started with Carroll Silloway shooting in two baskets in quick succession, followed by three good shots by Mann, the teams running nearly even until the latter part of the half, when Spaulding took a spurt and worked up to a 20 to 13 close in the last three minutes of play. In the second half, Goals started the scoring by tossing in a basket and throughout the period, both teams played a game that was characterized by good passing but light scoring. Spaulding making 11 points and the Morrisville aggregation scoring 10. The score is as follows:

Get Acquainted with Yourself.

Arnold Bennett, the famous English writer, says in an article in the February Woman's Home Companion:
"His own judgment of his fellows is for the most part very detached and unbiased. He discerns, for example, their faults as plain faults. He is not specially anxious to see only the best in them.
He watches a friend come into a drawing-room, and his attitude toward that friend is a neutral attitude. Affection may induce him to condone defects, but it will not render the defects invisible, nor will it prevent the secret exasperation which defects sometimes cause, nor will it do away with the sense of the ridiculous. But when he himself enters a drawing-room, only in the rarest instances does it occur to him that he may be regarded in any manner as either exasperating or ridiculous, or as aught but a very decent, well-meaning individual decidedly above the average. He has the notion that his fellows have agreed to a "most-favored-nation" clause for him, and that they will take unusual pains to understand the excellence of his intentions, and that they will somehow hesitate before judging him adversely. In a word, that they will do their utmost to make their own verdict upon him coincide with his verdict upon himself."

A Mackinaw For Extra Cold Days

There are some days every winter when you ought to have something to wear that is extra warm; something the wind

One of these good Mackinaws we have here will fill the bill in every way and keep your body as warm as toast.

Just have a look at them and then try some of them on and see how stylish the bet-

General Sporting Notes.

Establishment of a home for aged baseball players is a proposal that in all probability will be submitted to club owners of the American and National leagues in a statement by B. B. Johnson of the American league which was announced Saturday evening. Such a home could be easily established, he said. "It might be feasible to take a part of the world's series gate receipts for such a cause, and the club owners could probably be induced to contribute to the fund," he said in his statement. The subject, Mr. Johnson said, had been previously discussed by several major league club owners, but nothing as yet has been definitely settled.

George Sisler of the Browns says that he will not strike, but will be ready to go south with the club on March 3. The St. Louis magnates can settle down with a good deal more ease, as Sisler is one of the real luminaries of baseball, and players will naturally follow him. He says that he has not been in favor of the strike at any time and that if anyone says that all the players are behind the move, they are mistaken, as his vote has never been counted. Of late there are several players, who are in the same mind with Sisler, and who have voiced their sentiments with the league magnates.

Having been offered purses upward of $8000 since he was laid off the list of fighters, on account of an injured hand and in a bout several weeks ago, Benny Leonard will box again in Philadelphia with lightweight Eddie Wallace of Brooklyn. Now that Leonard has got into condition again, after his long illness, Billy Gibson, his manager, has arranged several bouts for him with Bobby Vaughn at Dayton, O., and with Ritchie Mitchell, the latest conqueror of Freddie Walsh in a no decision contest, and had also made arrangements for Benny to appear in several bouts at the Germantown Sporting club, the Manhattan A. C., and the Broadway A. C. It was necessary for him to ask for the postponement of all these affairs. Willie Jackson, the latest boxing find, is also anxious to meet Leonard, so it is stated among Jackson's friends.
